THE MORGAN HORSE

America's First Light Horse Breed

"Justin Morgan" who founded the Morgan breed was foaled in West Springfield, Massachusetts, in 1789, the same year that George Washington became the nation's first President. Believed to have been of Thoroughbred and Arabian ancestry -- with a possible mixture of "Dutch" blood -- this animal was, in genetic terms, a sport or mutant, possessing a unique ability to transmit his own characteristics to his descendants.

Justin Morgan spent 30 of his 32 years in the states of Vermont and New Hampshire. Through his descendants he became an institution in American heritage, famed across the country. It was this link to American history that inspired Walt Disney to produce the film "Justin Morgan Had A Horse," based on the novel by Marguerite Henry.

Three of Justin's sons -- Sherman, Bulrush, and Woodbury -- were most instrumental in popularizing the Morgan type and establishing America's first native breed. The popularity of the breed spread rapidly across the country when his grandson, Black Hawk, achieved great fame -- even more so when Black Hawk's son, Ethan Allen, became the champion trotter of the world.

Morgan horses were found to be suitable for a variety of uses. They helped in pioneering the West and served as cavalry mounts during war and peace. They were used as stylish saddle horses and were most particularly prized as superior driving horses and roadsters. It is interesting to note that the Morgan is the only breed of horse ever perpetuated by the United States government.

In 1905, the U.S. Morgan Horse Farm was established at Middlebury, Vermont. It was operated there by the Department of Agriculture for nearly half a century and was eventually turned over to the University of Vermont where the breeding program is still continued today. The purpose of the farm was to perpetuate the Morgan breed and to provide breeding stallions for Remount Stations throughout the country.

Morgan blood also made a significant contribution to the founding and developing of such other American horses as the Standardbred, Saddlebred, Quarter Horse, and Walking Horse.

The Morgan is now prized for its versatility. Its role and service to mankind has adjusted to changing times. Today the Morgan is many things to many people -- from a working ranch horse and scholar of obedience to breathtaking, animated creatures of precision, unparalleled in equine beauty. In or out of the show ring, he excels under saddle or in harness, as a trail horse, roadster, or jumper. He is a superior "baby-sitter" for youngsters and an accomplished "instructor" for adults who are new to horsemanship.

Additional information about the Morgan breed is available here at the show from breeders and members of the Virginia-Carolinas Morgan Horse Club as well as from the national breed organization, The American Morgan Horse Association, P. O. Box 960, Shelburne, Vermont, 05842. (802)-985-4944. www.morganhorse.com.

A GUIDE FOR SPECTATORS

Carriage Driving

Vehicles to be antiques or reproductions thereof, (bicycle wheels excluded). Harness must be of the type appropriate to the type of vehicle used. Whips (the driver) and their passengers should be dressed conservatively according to the style of the present day. Driving aprons, hats, gloves, and whip in hand are required for drivers. These classes are open to singles (two and/or four wheel vehicles), pairs, tandems, unicorns, and four-in-hands. Dressage tests the horse's suppleness and ease of movement. In Reinsmanship, it's the driver's skill that counts. Correctness of appointments, way of going, and manners matter in Turnout, while maneuverability and obedience are required in Obstacles.

Classic Pleasure

Horses in this section are shown under saddle and in harness. It is imperative that the horse give the distinct appearance of being a pleasure to ride/drive with emphasis on the walk and smooth transitions. Horses are to stand quietly and back readily. They are to be shown by an amateur in Saddle Seat attire. Attendants/headers must be amateurs or individuals eligible for amateur status.

Dressage

Dressage is an ancient philosophy of training, resulting in perfect harmony between horse and rider. The rider doesn't give a command, he or she indicates his or her desire with aides that the horse naturally responds to. Watch, can you detect their subtle form of communication? Each rider will ride a predetermined test, and the judge will score each movement on a scale of 10 to 0. The horse with the highest score will be the winner.

English Pleasure

The English Pleasure horse should give the appearance he enjoys the work he is doing and that he is a pleasure to ride and enjoy. Shown under saddle at a walk, trot, road trot and canter he is judged on manners, performance, quality, presence, suitability and the apparent ability to give a good pleasure ride. The rider rising from and sitting down on the saddle is called "posting", and is part of the English style or riding. It's for the comfort of both horse and rider.

Equitation

Equitation is horsemanship or the art of riding and showing a horse. The rider only, not the horse, is judged on hands, seat, legs, basic position, and the ability to make the horse perform any gait or test the judge may require. There are three distinct styles: saddle seat with a flat English saddle and two-reined bridle; hunter seat where a jumping saddle is used; and stock seat and western seat where western saddles are used. All equitation riders are 17 years old or younger, except for AMHA Stock Seat, Hunter Seat over Fences, and Dressage classes in which riders must be 21 or under.

Hunter Pleasure

The Hunter Pleasure horse is shown with hunter style equipment, including forward or balance seat saddle and snaffle, pelham or kimberwick bit. Mane and tail may be braided in traditional hunter style. The Hunter Pleasure horse should be a mild mannered individual capable of working on a light rein. It should have ground covering gaits that would be comfortable for horse and rider over extended period of time. It should have impeccable manners and should clearly enjoy its work. Shown at the walk, trot, extended trot, canter, and extended canter.

In-Hand

This is the breeders division of the show and is divided into age and sex categories. Entries are shown by no more than two handlers and are judged individually, standing, then at a walk and trot on the line. Emphasis is placed on type and conformation with consideration given to the horse's ability to move correctly. The winner will be the entry that the judge feels most closely resembles the ideal standard of perfection for the breed.

Park Saddle

The Park Saddle horse should present an overall picture of beauty, brilliance, animation and elegance. Shown under English tack at a walk, trot and canter. Judged on quality, manners, presence, performance and suitability as well as type and conformation. The Park Saddle horse should "really strut his stuff."

Park Harness

This division showcases a "Sunday-Go-To-Meeting" horse of style and elegance. The Park Harness horse should be the epitome of quality, refinement and elegance. Horses in this division are shown hitched to a fine harness cart and are shown at the park walk and park trot. Drivers in certain classes may also be asked to "show your horse." At this command, the driver should show his horse to its best advantage.

Pleasure Driving

This division takes us back to the days when the horse was the means of daily transportation. The Pleasure Driving horse must give a quiet, deliberate and willing performance as the driver's only contact is through the reins. Shown harnessed to a two-wheel pleasure driving cart. Judged on manners, performance, quality, presence, suitability and apparent ability to give a good pleasure drive.

Roadster

The Roadster horse belonged to the country doctor and the itinerant preacher in days gone by. Famous for its fast trot and ability to go long distances, it was the forerunner of the harness horses you see on the racetrack today. Shown at a jog trot, road gait, and then at speed hitched to a two-wheeled cart (bike) or under saddle. The driver or rider is dressed in their stable colors. The roadster enters the ring the "wrong" way, and when the class reverses you'll sense the excitement as the "turn it on" as if on the racetrack. Judged on performance, speed, quality and manners.

Western Pleasure

The Western Pleasure horse invokes images of the "Old West". This horse should be smooth and easy to ride, a legacy of long days in the saddle. Notice the riders, they barely move in the saddle. Shown in western tack with riders in western apparel. Shown at a walk, jog-trot and lope on a light rein. Judged on manners, performance, quality, presence, suitability and apparent ability to give a good pleasure ride.

Working Hunter

This should remind you of a scene you may have seen in a movie - riders in red coats galloping their horse over ditches and fences, chasing after a pack of hounds following the scent of a fox. For horse show purposes, we dispense with the hounds and the fox and the red coats, but keep all the excitement of the horse and rider soaring over obstacles in their path. Hunters should be calm, steady, and maintain an even pace while jumping. These horses perform individually, except in Hunter Hack where rail work is done as a group and fence work is done individually.
